

Resource Guide

Building a Family

Check out these other organizations that can help provide support on specific issues that impact the adolescent and young adult cancer community.

allianceforfertilitypreservation.org

Alliance for Fertility Preservation

The Alliance for Fertility Preservation is made up of a team of professionals who have chosen to join together to advance the field of fertility preservation. Its members are recognized leaders with expertise in all aspects of fertility preservation including, oncology, reproductive endocrinology, urology, psychology, oncology nursing, and reproductive law. The organization's mission is to increase information, resources and access to fertility preservation for cancer patients and the healthcare professionals who treat them.

thefeatherfoundation.org

Feather Foundation

The Feather Foundation provides financial, emotional and practical support to parents who have cancer. They provide help towards childcare related costs, online groups, guidance and tips on parenting with cancer and self-care with cancer, and resources of other assistance available for parents with cancer.

livestrong.org/what-we-do/program/fertility

Livestrong Fertility

LIVESTRONG Fertility offers educational information and resources that support cancer patients and survivors whose fertility may be at risk due to a cancer diagnosis.

teammaggieforcure.org

Team Maggie

Team Maggie's purpose is to provide financial assistance to young women and men for the purpose of preserving eggs and sperm. They provide Fertility Assistance Grants up to $2,500 to assist residents in the US currently facing cancer treatments with fertility preservation expenses including, but not limited to, egg retrieval, and up to 1 year of storage fees.

The Oncofertility Consortium

MyOncofertility.org is a patient education resource from The Oncofertility Consortium, a national, interdisciplinary initiative exploring the reproductive future of cancer survivors.

---

Well Spouse Association

Nonprofit membership organization providing peer-to-peer support to wives, husbands, or partners of persons with any chronic illness.